Re: Lalita Devi Sukhramn & Eshwar Nauth Sukhramn - Case No. 11-42627 (JF)

Dear Ms. Arguello:

To include the paragraph you seek regarding preserving your right to oppose applications is superfluous and violates the principle of inclusio unus est exclusio alterius, and I shall not agree.

Why would you send it to Judge Feller while it is still being negotiated and I have not signed it? A party who is negotiating the terms of a stipulation does not unilaterally change it, sign it, and file it with the court---without the consent of the other party. By your doing so, you compel me to send a copy of this response to Judge Feller so as to obviate any confusion that you have unnecessarily again caused.

I enclose a revised draft of a stipulation that incorporates changes upon which we agreed; if you do not wish to sign it, I shall settle it upon you.

Finally, I am incredulous that you would refuse to give me the day and time and channel of a television show!! Are you prohibiting me from watching it? If I watch it, are you going to seek an order to enjoin me or file another complaint against me?

Very truly yours,

Robert L. Geltzer
